Subject: Force Majeure because of Coronavirus

Dear Valued Business Partner,

As reported in the international media, the Novel Coronavirus has continued and is continuing to spread beyond China to most of all countries, with significant impact on transportation, travel and production capacities worldwide.

As of today, the primarily affected countries, in addition to China, are Japan, South Korea, Italy and many other countries in Europe like France, Germany and Spain. Further countries are following with extended and strict control measures. We are closely monitoring the situation.

Numerous of our suppliers have already reported Force Majeure-Events to us or declared that they have stopped production and that they cannot deliver to us anymore or in accordance with the orders.

As a result of these unforeseeable external events, which were caused from outside the company, we are compelled to declare a Force Majeure Event which is not limited to one specific country.

Due to this extraordinary situation we inform you that we will stop larger areas of our production from 23rd of March until further notice. Recipients of affected vehicles will be informed promptly.

Even in these challenging times we of course are there for you! Despite all limitations we are doing all in our power to support you as good as possible.

- Currently the workshops in the network are fully operational
- The supply of parts is currently secured

MAN has prepared scenarios for all conceivable events in all areas and locations of the company.

MAN has an excellently international production network that enables us to react flexibly.

Nevertheless, we find ourselves in an exceptional situation that makes further planning security difficult.

Due to this unclear overall situation and the events that are unfolding, production bottlenecks and thus delays in vehicle and parts deliveries may occur.

Even in this exceptional situation, we at MAN will do everything in our power to stand by your side as a partner as usual.

Your contact persons will of course be available to you at any time and will support you.

Kind regards,
